News Highlights:

- Indecomm Digital Services continues as a Visionary Sponsor of Arizona Technology Council
- Supports growth initiatives of Arizona Technology Council
- Indecomm Digital Services a valued partner of the Council

Scottsdale, AZ – January 9, 2018 – Indecomm Global Services, a leading provider of digital engineering and engagement services, including digital learning and content services, is pleased to announce that it is yet again a Visionary Sponsor of the Arizona Technology Council. Indecomm has maintained this status since 2014. This puts Indecomm among the elite technology sponsors in the region. In addition, Indecomm is being represented by Venu Raghavan, CEO, Indecomm Digital Services, Inc., on the Council's Board of Directors. Indecomm's participation with the board complements its recent reorganization in which Indecomm's digital engineering and learning business became a separate entity known as Indecomm Digital Services, Inc. (IDS).

“Our ongoing relationship with the Arizona Technology Council facilitates our leadership position in the Arizona technology community, where we work with some of the leading tech and software companies in the world,” said Raghavan. “The accelerating pace of technological advancement necessitates an increased level of conversation with the technology community, and especially our clients. The Council is an important forum for that.”

Indecomm specializes in digital transformation with a focus on the product and application engineering life cycle. Indecomm has developed expertise in niche areas such as analytics, big data, cloud, DevOps, AI, IoT, mobility and automation. Additionally, Indecomm's Digital Learning Division is a large producer of instructional content. The company has built a track record of being a partner that brings innovation, agility, and simplicity, while helping global clients design and deploy learning and technology solutions for their employees, customers, partners, and to the communities that they serve.

“Indecomm Digital Services is a valued partner of the Council and continues to be a critical asset to Arizona’s software sector,” said Steven G. Zylstra, president and CEO, Arizona Technology Council. “As a Visionary Sponsor, Indecomm plays a large role in helping us grow our footprint as a leading technology hub.”
